To The Media:

Welcome to the Milwaukee Bucks' second decade in the NBA. The cooperation and coverage the media has afforded us through the first ten years of the organization has been superb. We appreciate your efforts and aims and will assist you in any way possible. The following are some of the services we will provide and some of the things we ask of you to help us run our operation smoothly.

- * Individual game credentials should be requested a minimum of 30 hours prior to game time (Friday noon for weekend games). Pre-arranged credentials may be picked up at the will-call window in the southwest corner of the Arena just off the Kilbourn Street entrance. Credentials are good for admittance to the Arena, Press Room, and home and visiting locker rooms. Media members holding Bucks' season passes should notify this office of their intentions to cover a game in order to reserve seating on the press table. All press seating in the Milwaukee Arena is on court level.

- * The press room is located on court level in the northeast corner of the Arena. The room opens 1½ hours before the game and again at halftime and following the game. Secure storage of typewriters, coats, and the like is available. We must limit press room usage to members of the media only when valid Bucks' press passes are presented. It is impossible to accomodate family members, friends, guests, or others. The professional intent of the room is to provide a meeting and working place for bonafide writers, reporters, broadcasters, and game personnel.

- * Both the Bucks' and visitors' locker rooms will be open up to 45 minutes before game time and ten minutes after the game. Your cooperation is asked in maintaining a work atmosphere in the locker rooms for post-game interviews. Those newspapers with morning deadlines and TV stations doing live spots should be given preference in obtaining players and coaches. Basically common courtesy should prevail.

- * Special instructions for all cameramen can be found on the back of both the season and individual game photo passes.

- * Pre-game press notes, lineup and scoring sheets, and the current program insert will be available in the Press Room before the game. Programs will be available on a limited basis. Play-by-play, quarter stats, and half-time box scores will be delivered directly to the press table. Please keep sets quarter-by-quarter. A limited number of play-by-play sheets and halftime boxes will be available in the Press Room after the game. Complete final boxes and fourth quarter play-by-plays will be available after the game in the Press Room.

- * Both telecopier and video relay terminals (VRT) are available at every Bucks home game through Milwaukee Independent. The service may be contacted in advance by phone or prior to the game. Lee Kujawa (414-543-0642) operates the service.

Cordially,

Bill King II

On Game Saturdays, the Arena box office is open at 10 a.m., on Sundays at noon.

1979-80 SCHEDULE FORMAT

This season the 22 teams of the National Basketball Association will operate under a new "unbalanced" schedule as adopted by the Board of Governors during the league meetings. The new plan calls for each team to play the other ten teams in their own conference (in the Bucks case it's the Western Conference) six times — three each at home and on the road. Teams in the opposite conference will be met just twice — once each at home and on the road. The schedule format differs from that the league operated under the past three seasons when they faced 19 opponents four times each and two opponents three times. The new format is designed to enhance inter-conference rivalries and save on travel expenses. The schedule has also been compacted somewhat ending the regular season the last week of March rather than the first week in April. All in all the 22 NBA teams will play 902 regular season contests.

For Milwaukee, this season's schedule has a favorable home/road split of games as the Bucks play an equal number of home and road games each month during the season. The opening month of October has ten scheduled, five each at home and on the road. In the months of November and March the club plays 14 games each. December and January prove to be the busiest months with 16 games on tap for each but that is buffered by a 12 game schedule in February.

As far as the dreaded extended west coast road trips are concerned, the Bucks have two three game road stands and one six game road haul on the schedule. The six game trek puts the Bucks on the road from January 22nd through the 31st. Other road trips include one five games in length, one four games, three of three, six of two, and five one game encounters.

In the friendly confines of the Milwaukee Arena, where the Bucks have won 70.4% of their games in the eleven year history of the franchise, the Bucks get almost the same break they do on the road. The longest homestand runs from January 11 through the 20th and encompasses six games. Also on tap are one five game homestand, four of two games in length, three of three, three of two, and seven single games. The Bucks close out the 1979-80 regular season with six of their final ten games at home.

Concerning games in succession, the Bucks play three games in a row (on consecutive days) three times and two games in a row nine times.

NBA PLAYOFF FORMAT

The winners of the four division races will receive first round byes in the playoffs under a new formula recently approved by the Board of Governors of the National Basketball Association.

Under the 12-team playoff format, the third, fourth, fifth and sixth teams in each conference will take part in the first round.

In that round, all best-of-three series, the team with the third best conference record meets the team with the sixth best record, while the fourth and fifth teams face each other.

The division champions with the best record in their respective conferences will begin play in the next round facing the winner of the series between the fourth and fifth place teams. The other division champion in each conference will go against the winner of the series between the third and sixth clubs. Both series will be the best-of-seven with the winners meeting for the conference championship in another best-of-seven series.

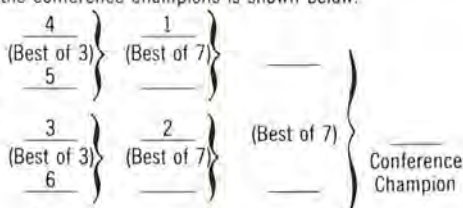

Then, the league championship will be decided in the traditional best-of-seven series between the conference champions.

In all cases, the team with the higher percentage during the season will have the odd game at home.

CONFERENCE PLAYOFF:

(NOTE: The division leaders in each Conference automatically make the playoffs. Then the next four teams in each Conference with the highest won-lost percentages. The teams are then ranked one through six with the division leaders always one and two.)

PLAYOFF TIE-BREAKERS

In the event of a two-team tie for a playoff position, the following criteria will be used to break the tie:

- a. Results of games against each other
- b. Best winning percentage within own Conference
- c. Best winning percentage within own Division
- d. Best winning percentage against all playoff opponents
- e. Point differential in games against each other
- f. Total number of points scored

A multiple team tie will be broken in the following manner:

- a. Best cumulative winning percentage in total games involved all tied teams
- b. Best winning percentage within own Conference
- c. Best winning percentage within own Division
- d. Best winning percentage against all playoff opponents
- e. Total number of points scored

BROADCAST INFORMATION

Radio broadcasts of all Milwaukee Bucks home and away games are originated by WTMJ, Milwaukee's NBC radio affiliate at 620 on the AM dial. Games are fed to a statewide network of over 20 stations throughout Wisconsin and upper Michigan.

Jim Irwin is the new "Voice of the Bucks" and will be joined courtside by the original Buck Jon McGlocklin for color commentary.

Telecasts of 17 road games originate through WVTU-TV, Channel 18 in Milwaukee. The telecasts are fed to a network of cable stations covering the primary television markets in Wisconsin.

1979-80 TELEVISION SCHEDULE WVTU - CHANNEL 18

The Milwaukee Bucks will televise 17 road games back to Milwaukee on WVTU-Channel 18 during the 1979-80 NBA regular season.

The 17 game television schedule gets underway on Wednesday night December 12 at 7 p.m. when the Bucks travel to Philadelphia and take on the Sixers. In all, three games will be televised in December, five in January, four in February, and five in March. Twelve of the seventeen games are against Western Conference rivals.

The Bucks and WVTU are currently in the second year of a three year agreement reached last summer. The pact gives WVTU the rights to air selected road games during the regular season, as well as any road playoff contests that are not selected for national network coverage through the NBA television contract.

Eddie Doucette and John McGlocklin will continue to provide play-by-play and color analysis during the season. Doucette has been calling the shots for the Bucks either on radio or TV since the club's inception eleven years ago. McGlocklin is in his fourth season of color commentary, having moved behind the mike in 1976 after retiring as an active player.

SPORTCOM

Sportcom is the corporate division of Milwaukee Professional Sports & Services, Inc. that handles radio-TV broadcasts, films, licensed merchandise and special promotional activity. Established in 1970, this promotional unit is responsible for the packaging of pre- and post-game shows for radio and TV, origination of TV signals of Bucks' home games for visiting teams and origination of Cable-cast signals for home games. Sportcom acts as designer, contractor and exclusive sales agent for all promotional items carrying the insignia of the Milwaukee Bucks and not supplied by NBA Properties, Inc. Sportcom also acts as agent for Milwaukee Bucks' players, coaches and broadcast talent in arranging various speaking engagements, personal appearances and advertising endorsements and publications for public sale and distribution.

Special facilities for visiting broadcast teams are maintained by Sportcom. These include Arena lighting facilities for TV colorcasts, a wireless microphone system for remote interview and filming and a UPI newswire. Costs of these facilities will be furnished on request of visiting teams or station representatives.

SPORTTRAITS

Sportraits Incorporated is a division of Milwaukee Professional Sports and Services which specializes in original sports artwork. Sportraits innovates commercial sports art projects. The corporation is based upon the talent of one of the nation's foremost artists and illustrators, George W. Pollard. Among the commercial ventures of Sportraits are player action portraits, original oil portraits of athletes, promotional items and montage posters.

MECCA'S GEOMETRIC COURT Designed By Robert Indiana

The design on the court you see before you was developed by Robert Indiana. Robert Indiana has said of himself, "I am an American painter of signs charting the course. I would be a people's painter as well as a painter's painter."

Succinctly he has explained his aims, and at the same time the reasons for his success, of which there can be no doubt. Since his first art show in 1960, Mr. Indiana's art has been seen and acclaimed internationally. The floor design along with LeRoy Neiman's "Basketball Superstars" painting for the 1977 All-Star Game in Milwaukee is the second major piece of art nationally recognized to have originated from Milwaukee.

Robert Indiana has established a lasting reputation as an artist who paints America. He paints about his country; its people; and about himself; as well as about the traditions and cultures we all know. Because his art speaks of the nature of our land and the American people, Robert Indiana is destined to be among the great American masters such as: Winslow Homer, Thomas Eakins, and Edward Hooper.

Indiana is one of the leaders of the Pop Art movement of the 1960's and 70's. The trademarks of his art are the lettered signs, directional symbols, commercial illustrations; precise shapes; and intensely active colors. His art has been referred to as American as apple pie. He deals with signs of life in both vocabulary and form. Like highway signs, his paintings are geometric shapes with bright, bold numbers and letters upon them. LOVE is perhaps his most famous series of paintings.

Claiming the same hometown as the Buck's Kent Benson in New Castle, Indiana. Mr. Indiana's works are on display across the country and such institutions as the Carnegie Institute of Arts in Pittsburgh, the Chicago Museum of Contemporary Art, the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City, Yale and Princeton Universities, and the Milwaukee Art Center all own works by Indiana. Previously Indiana has been commissioned to redesign the U.S. one cent piece by ART IN AMERICA, a mural for the New York State Pavilion at the New York World's Fair, and by the United States Government to design a Special Stamp for Someone Special in the denomination of 8 cents and issued originally in Philadelphia in 1973 just to name a few.

Robert Indiana has lived and worked in New York since 1954.

The court itself is the same that has been in use during past seasons. Before being painted, it was completely refinished and sealed. Indiana did not actually paint the court, that task was contracted to a local sign painting company. Indiana signed the court of the southwest corner with a can of spray paint and a specially prepared stencil. Mr. Indiana also designed the banners that hang above the upper parquet around the Arena. The colors will also be picked up in the outer lobbies as MECCA plans to refurbish those facilities. Total cost of the project approaches $40,000 with a portion of that to be recouped by the sale of banners and posters similar to those in the Arena.

BUCKS HISTORY — THE FIRST DECADE

Kareem and Commissioner Kennedy

On October 16, 1968, before a crowd of 8,467 at the Milwaukee Arena, the Milwaukee Bucks made their National Basketball Association debut. The Chicago Bulls, however, won 89-84. The Bucks first win came in their sixth game, a 134-118 victory over Detroit on October 31, 1968. The Bucks went on to win 27 games and lose 55 in their first season, but set a home attendance record for a first year team, averaging 6,246 fans at the Arena. Guard Jon McGlocklin led the team in scoring with a 19.6 average; forward Greg Smith was the leading rebounder, and guard Guy Rodgers was the playmaker.

The Bucks last place finish in the East Division and the last place finish in the West by the other expansion team, the Phoenix Suns, qualified the two teams for a coin flip to determine rights to the number one choice in the college draft. On March 19, 1969, NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy flipped the coin. Phoenix chose heads, the coin came up tails, and on April 2, 1969 the Bucks signed 7-2 Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of UCLA.

Abdul-Jabbar became an instant superstar, teaming with McGlocklin, Smith, rookie Bob Dandridge and Flynn Robinson in leading the Bucks from the cellar spot to a runner-up place in the East. The Bucks won 56 and lost 26 that year and then defeated the Philadelphia 76ers in five games. 360,650 fans watched the Bucks at the Milwaukee Arena, an average of 9,490 per game. Following the season, the Bucks made their biggest trade — getting All-Pro Guard Oscar Robertson from Cincinnati for Flynn Robinson and Charlie Paulk. Just prior to the start of the 1970-71 season, Bob Boozer and Lucius Allen were acquired from Seattle for Don Smith.

With Kareem, Robertson, McGlocklin, Dandridge and Smith forming the starting five and Boozer, Allen and Dick Cunningham providing backup, the Bucks ran away with the Midwest Division in the newly aligned four division league setup. The Bucks won 66 and lost only 16 games, in the process setting six league records: home wins, 34; road wins, 28; field goal percentage, .509; field goals, 3972; and assists, 2249. In a playoff competition the Bucks dispatched San Francisco and Los Angeles in five game series and then blasted Baltimore four straight for the World's Championship, only the second time in league history that the title series ended so quickly. In winning the World's Championship, the Bucks had come further, faster, than any expansion team in the history of major professional sports.

In 1971-72 the Bucks made the playoffs for the third straight year, winning the Midwest Division for the second year in a row. The Bucks elevated Wayne Embry to the general manager post and named William Alverson, a legal advisor to the club since its beginning, president in March, 1972.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar earned the league's MVP honor for the second straight year, averaging 34.8 points per game and leading the NBA in that department. The Bucks found defense of their World Championship title difficult. The Bucks disposed of Golden State in five games. The "super series" for the Western Conference championship matched the Bucks against the Los Angeles Lakers, a contingent that had run a 33 game winning streak during the season before being derailed by the Bucks on January 9. The Bucks battled the Lakers in six exciting games before falling four games to two.

The Bucks completed the 1972-73 season with a 60-22 record, the only NBA team in history to post sixty or more wins in three consecutive seasons. The sixty wins were posted despite an unusual season which found the Bucks plagued by injuries. Coach Costello had his full roster available for barely more than half of the 82 game schedule. The Bucks finished the year with an NBA record of 14 straight victories to end the season, and entered the first round of the playoffs against Golden State. Possibly wearied by the whirlwind of winning the 14 games and the final race with the Lakers for the Western Conference title, the Bucks were surprised by a deep Golden State team, and fell 4-2 in the opening round.

The Bucks were one game short of their fourth consecutive season with 60 regular season wins or more in 1973-74, finishing the season with a 59-23 record. Numerous injuries during the season often put the Bucks in a manpower shortage situation, but the club rallied to offset the absence of various players at different times of the year. The most serious injury sidelined Lucius Allen for the last few games of the season and all of the playoffs. Allen tore a cartilage in his knee in a game March 15 in Detroit, and underwent surgery the following day. The Bucks again topped the Midwest Division and eliminated Los Angeles 4-1 in the playoffs and dispatched Chicago without delay 4-0. In the championship round against Boston, the Bucks faced a troublesome press than continually dogged their game. The series was highlighted by a double-overtime sixth game which the Bucks won in Boston, to knot the series at 3-3. In the NBA Championship round's final seventh game, the Bucks were defeated by the Celtics 102-87.

Abdul-Jabbar

In 1974-75 the Bucks endured what might have been their most frustrating season on record. A pre-season broken hand kept Kareem Abdul-Jabbar sidelined for the first sixteen games of the season and the club was 3-13, putting themselves too far behind Midwest Division rivals to ever recover. A mid-season knee injury to All Star guard Jim Price sidelined him for the last half of the season. Kareem, Price and Bob Dandridge were named to the All Star team, the first time in club history that three members had been named to the honor squad. Although the Costello trademark of defense was upheld (the club's allowance of 100.7 points per game was the fifth best in the league), their 38-44 record put them in last place in the Midwest Division. The club's longest winning streak of the year was five games, and the team stayed in contention for the wild card playoff berth until the last week of the season. The Bucks lost 18 games during this fretful year by five points or less, and 11 of those losses were by three points or fewer. Kareem was third in the NBA in scoring while Bob Dandridge finished 18th with a 19.9 point per game clip.

On June 16, 1975 the Bucks executed one of the most momentous trades in pro basketball history by sending Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and reserve center Walt Welsey to the Los Angeles Lakers in exchange for center Elmore Smith, guard Brian Winters, and two All-American rookies, David Meyers and Junior Bridgeman. The Milwaukee Bucks entered the 1975-76 season with a new, young running team, perhaps the youngest in the NBA.

Jon McGlocklin

The young talent faltered at first, losing the first five games of the season before posting a win over Detroit on November 4, 1975. As the season progressed, all four players obtained from Los Angeles for Abdul-Jabbar proved to make important contributions. Smith became a consistent performer at center, leading the team in rebounding during the season with a 11.4 per game average. Brian Winters put his marksmanship to work to average over 18 points per game and make the NBA West All Stars. Winters started in all 78 games he played. Bridgeman played both guard and forward well, started in 19 games and averaged over 20 minutes per game. Meyers showed outstanding rebound potential, banging the boards hard in 34 starts at the strong forward slot. Slowed by a knee injury, he rallied to have an outstanding playoff series against Detroit.

The Bucks posted a 38-44 record in 1975-76, identical to that achieved by the Los Angeles Lakers and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. Bob Dandridge was named to the NBA West All Stars and had his best season ever, averaging 21.5 points per game while ranking among the top ten scorers in the league. The Bucks finished first in the Midwest Division for the fifth time in eight seasons. The Milwaukeeans were beat in the first round of the best-of-three playoff series 2-1 by Detroit. Coach Larry Costello signed a new two year pact just prior to the playoffs. In the 1976 college draft the Bucks selected Indiana All American and U.S. Olympian Quinn Buckner in the first round.

The 1976-77 season saw a major shakeup within the organization. Just 18 games into the season Larry Costello resigned as Head Coach and Don Nelson took over the reigns. Other changes came about involving the club's management structure. A group headed by James F. Fitzgerald, William J. Blake, and J. P. Cullen and Son Corporation purchased 361,000 outstanding shares of Milwaukee Professional Sports and Services common stock. Mr. Fitzgerald became Chairman of the Board and President of the corporation, Wayne Embry, formerly General Manager of the club, became a consultant thus relinquishing his duties on a day-to-day basis. What was formerly Embry's duties were then split between Don Nelson who handles player personnel matters and John Steinmiller who was promoted to Director of Business Operations in charge of the day-to-day functions of the club. On the court Bob Dandridge turned in a solid performance averaging 20.8 points over the season. Brian Winters and Junior Bridgeman also averaged in double figures as did Swen Nater who was traded to Cleveland which gave Milwaukee the first round draft choice they used to obtain Marques Johnson. Record-wise the 1976-77 season was a meager 30 wins against 52 losses. But to offset that mark was perhaps the best draft by any professional team in history. Behind the direction of Rick Sund, Don Nelson, and Wayne Embry the club drafted and subsequently signed three first round choices in Kent Benson, Marques Johnson, and Ernie Grunfeld. John Killilea, once a scout for the Bucks and more recently assistant coach of the Boston Celtics, joined Don Nelson in the coaching ranks as assistant coach and assistant Director of Player Personnel.

Bob Dandridge

The 1977-78 season parlayed an exceptional draft of Benson, Johnson, and Grunfeld along with veterans Bridgeman, Buckner, Meyers, and Winters into an exciting season for a young team that as of yet did not have valuable playoff experience. Milwaukee finished the regular season with a 44-38 record. The fate of the playoff hopeful Bucks hinged upon Seattle beating Golden State on the final game of the 902 game NBA regular season schedule. The scene was a frustrating one for the Bucks as players, coaches, and fans alike stood anxiously by listening to the radio for a special play-by-play feed of the Sonics-Warriors game. Everyone felt helpless as their fate rested with a game they weren't playing. Seattle defeated Golden State sending the Bucks to pack the bathing suits in Milwaukee to head for Phoenix. Milwaukee swept the Suns 2-0 in the mini-series advancing to the Midwest Division final. It took Denver a tough seven games and the home court advantage to defeat Milwaukee and end a championship dream for the "Green and Growing" Bucks.

The image the Bucks created that year was one of youth and hope. The first full season under Don Nelson saw some changes, not all of which were on the court. The Bucks adopted their now familiar three-toned green striping on their uniforms and other paraphernalia, came out with a 45 record entitled Green and Growing, and numerous other exciting concepts. The result of all this could be felt at the gate where the Bucks averaged 10,711.15 fans (.97012%) to top their all time attendance records. Also that year the Bucks set an all time NBA record by winning eight overtime games.

In the next season, 1978-79, everyone expected Milwaukee to surpass their successes of the previous year. What with the core of the 1977-78 team intact, it was an easy assumption to make. But before the season began a vital cog on the Bucks club was lost. Alex English went to the Indiana Pacers via the free agent market. Then Dave Meyers was lost for all 82 games of the regular season due to a back injury. Those losses coupled with a few key injuries, saw the Bucks reverse their 44-38 record of the prior year to 38-44 and missing a playoff berth.

There were some bright spots however. Marques Johnson was named to the NBA All-Star team receiving more fan votes than any other player in the Western Conference. Later, Johnson was named to the NBA All-League team as a first team forward. Marques finished third in the NBA in scoring with a 25.6 average which was highest among all forwards and centers in the league. Junior Bridgeman finished the season with a 15.5 average, tops among all regular sixth men in the league. Kent Benson improved greatly over his rookie campaign while Brian Winters had his best scoring season ever. The Bucks 38-44 record placed them tied at third with Indiana in the Midwest Division. The club came on strong towards the end and won 16 of their last 26 games (.615%) including 6 wins in their last 9 road games. Milwaukee also shattered the NBA assist record with 2,562 on the year for a 31.2 average. The total attendance mark of 443,926 broke all the records set one season before. The marks include 32 sellouts, and average of 10,827, and a capacity of 99%.

It started out on a small scale with the development of service stations. From there it spread to the development of shopping centers, Holiday Inns, and other forms of land development.

Now, thirty years later, the business card reads: James F. Fitzgerald—Main Man. The card exemplifies what Fitzgerald has accomplished along with his partners. The partners were those who helped in that land development thirty years ago. Today, Fitzgerald and his partners own 65 percent of the Bucks stock and are endeavoring to purchase the remaining shares.

The acquisition of that stock came about through another area of interest to Fitzgerald, cable television. In 1965 Fitzgerald and his group (some of whom now comprise the Board of Directors of Milwaukee Professional Sports and Services, the parent company of the Milwaukee Bucks) started Total TV in Janesville, Wisconsin. The group now has 12 cable television systems in Wisconsin and Florida. Last year Total TV experimented and delivered eight live Bucks' games to Janesville via cable. In the next two or three years Fitzgerald hopes that other Wisconsin cable systems will become involved in offering their viewers the same opportunity.

"In 1973, we (Total TV) wanted to expand," Fitzgerald explains. "We were of the conviction that professional sports and cable TV were first cousins. So we approached Milwaukee Pro, who purchased Total TV stock and still owns 14% of the company."

That idea blossomed when Milwaukee Pro purchased one fourth of Total TV's 200,000 shares and offered Fitzgerald a seat on the Board of Directors. From that vantage point, Fitzgerald, along with his partners, continuously acquired stock in Milwaukee Pro to the point where they had controlling interests.

When Fitzgerald took over controlling interests in the club in October of 1976, he put into effect a five year plan designed towards building Milwaukee into a championship contender. "The foundation of the plan is that basketball is a team game," explains Fitzgerald. "The one-on-one teams in basketball never win championships. The team concept transcends the court and literally includes everyone in the organization, and properly done includes the fans and the whole city." He makes no bones about the fact that Milwaukee is attempting to mirror the image of the Boston Celtics of the sixties and early seventies.

"If the plan works then our biggest problem will be to keep it going," says Fitzgerald. "If the plan fails..." From there Fitzgerald gropes for words. It is clear he has put an extraordinary amount of effort into the plan and has so much faith in it, not to succeed would be inconceivable in his mind.

Now in the middle of that five year plan, Fitzgerald is beginning to focus on certain aspects of the business end of the operation, most notably the Arena situation. Currently housed in the smallest permanent NBA facility (the New Jersey Nets will move to a new 20,000 seat arena in the Meadowlands in December of 1980), the Bucks most certainly will need a higher seating capacity to operate in the black five years down the road. However, Fitzgerald points out that, "The question of a new or expanded Arena is a can't win situation for political office seekers. If a politician comes out against the proposition the entertainment and sports consumers are turned off." Thus, Fitzgerald has adopted a wait and see attitude until the end of the regular season after elections. "A decision for an improved facility should be based on the needs of the City of Milwaukee as it relates to other American cities and not on the specific needs of the Milwaukee Bucks," explains Fitzgerald.

The consummate businessman, Fitzgerald is continually seeking ways to run a more efficient organization. Thus comes into play the proposed move to make Milwaukee Pro a private company. "In my business career I have found operating a public company to be a very frustrating experience. The staggering number of government forms and regulations is intimidating. We hope the company goes private because operating with the federal government is time consuming and costly," adds Fitzgerald. He also hastens to add that the proposed move to go private is in no way connected with an eventual exodus from Milwaukee a la the Braves and Hawks. "In fact," cites Fitzgerald, "It would be just as easy to move the club whether it was a public corporation as opposed to private."

Now after six years of involvement with the Bucks, including the past three as President and Chairman of the Board, Fitzgerald reflects upon his experience. "I would say that if one single thing struck me more than anything else, it is the fact that Milwaukee is truly one of the great sports cities in America. The Milwaukee fans have instincts and insights far ahead of those in other cities. The two factors that we're generating are excitement and hope, feelings that the Milwaukee fans understand and appreciate."

Aside from his duties with the Bucks, Fitzgerald is also heavily involved with the NBA through three separate committees. With his cable television background, he's a natural for the NBA TV committee. And with his general "people" attitude, he's also a valuable contributor to the player relations and pension committees.

Fitzgerald, a self-proclaimed "family man," likes to think of the Bucks as a close-knit group. He and his wife, Marilyn, attend most of the Bucks home games and many on the road. "She likes the Bucks as much as I do," Fitzgerald said. "I guess we both think of them as part of our family."

Fitzgerald's own children (he has six) range in age from 16 to 27. Son Mike lives in Beloit and is a partner in Saxer-Fitzgerald Sporting Goods there; Marcia is married and lives in Madison; Brian lives in Madison and is in partnership in Nedrebo's Formal wear. Another son, James Jr., is employed in Janesville; Caroline attends school in Wisconsin, and Ellen goes to Vanguard School in Lake Wales, Florida.

Wayne Embry Vice President and Consultant

As a charter member of the Milwaukee Bucks, Wayne Embry has moved from pivot to VP with stops as player personnel director and general manager in the eleven year history of the franchise.

Embry, along with Jon McGlocklin, is one of two original Bucks still with the organization. Both joined the club via the expansion draft in 1968. Embry, a five-time NBA All-Star, served as the team's first captain and starting center. As a pro player, he labored in the pivot for eleven seasons and was a member of the Boston Celtic NBA title team in 1967-68. Also on that championship squad was Bucks' head coach Don Nelson.

While most of his time is now spent directing a management corporation, Wayne's basketball knowledge, player evaluation talents, and NBA contacts add to the front office savvy of the Bucks organization.

Embry, 42, is in his 22nd year of professional basketball involvement. He left his full time position with the Bucks, and together with Sherman Claypool, formed a corporation that controls three area McDonald's restaurants. Among the restaurants Embry manages is the McDonald's adjacent to the Arena at the State Street entrance.

A graduate of Miami (Ohio) University, Embry is an active member of the Milwaukee community as well as charitable and service organizations nationally. Wayne is on the Board of Directors of Wisconsin Junior Achievement, St. Mary's of the Hill Hospital, and Operation Push. He is also a trustee of the Basketball Hall of Fame, advisor to the Special Olympics, and on the Olympic Games Selection Committee. He has been honored time and again by his peers.

The Embry family consists of wife Terri, daughters Debbie 19, Jill 18, and Wayne Jr. 16.

Not only is professional basketball a game, it is a business best classified under the entertainment department. John Steinmiller is responsible for the Bucks' day-to-day business operations, marketing and sponsor merchandising, game promotions, long-range planning and coordination of club affairs with Don Nelson. In essence, he splits with Nelson the duties of what were once the general manager's.

With him, Steinmiller brings a refreshing philosophy to the business end of the operation. He stresses that the Bucks are not only in the sports or entertainment business, he stresses that the club is also in the people business. "We try to take a personal approach to every phase of the operation," says Steinmiller. The approach is evident in the club's player personnel area, sponsor merchandising, season ticket holder relations, or any of the varied sectors of the business. "I consider it an important part of my responsibility to provide our people that extra working space to be individuals and at the same time help our team on and off the floor. Every person within our organization, from the players to the ticket personnel, has an important role in our product."

Steinmiller is presently in his tenth season of involvement with the Bucks, and joined the club full time in January of 1971 as an administrative assistant for the Bucks' summer camps, with additional duties in the ticket and promotional areas. He worked up through the ranks, serving as the club's public relations director for five seasons before assuming his current position which he has held for two seasons.

A 1970 graduate of Marquette University with a B.A. in journalism, John worked for the Bucks on a part-time basis, while at Marquette where he served as president of the student body his senior year.

The past two seasons the Bucks have set and broken their all-time attendance marks. Those record sellouts just don't happen spontaneously. Says Steinmiller, "We plan, project, and sell with a record sellout year in mind every season. Sooner or later something will have to happen to help us raise our goals. I try to orient every individual within the organization to the fact that sellouts and victories are our goal."

"We want to be unique, different, and classy in everything we do on and off the floor," continued Steinmiller. "We like to be first with an approach, but we aren't afraid to follow a trend that is successful and consistent with our policies. The important thing to remember is that the real show, the prime entertainment, is on the floor. We're fortunate to have the world's very best basketball players working with us. In the end, their outstanding performance is what attracts fans and keeps them coming back."

Aside from the long hours and pressure situations of the NBA, Steinmiller is also secretary-treasurer of the Midwest Athletes Against Childhood Cancer (MAACC) Fund and is a member of the Sales and Marketing Executives of Milwaukee, while being active in the Big Brother program. He also makes numerous speaking engagements at Milwaukee area father and son banquets, career day programs, and other sports-oriented award dinners. Among personal interests, he lists beating Don Nelson at tennis near the top of the list.

A native of Mt. Prospect, Illinois, he attended St. Viator High School in Arlington Heights. John and his wife Corinne live on Milwaukee's east side.

Don Nelson
Head Coach
Director of Player
Personnel

When Don Nelson first entered the NBA it was with the franchise in Chicago. Not the Bulls, but the trivia experts among you will remember them as the Zephyrs. After one season there and another two in Los Angeles, Nelson became part of the Boston Celtic tradition. He spent 11 years playing on five NBA title teams. The marks he accomplished are noteworthy: 465 consecutive games played, the 10,000 point plateau, seventh on the all-time list of most games played in the NBA.

From there Nellie, as he is known to his friends, came to Milwaukee as an assistant coach. In a short amount of time, responsibilities he had not anticipated were thrust upon him. "My first year was a difficult one," recalls Nellie. "The team got off to a poor start and the head coach resigned 18 games into the season. We had only won three games."

The unexpected then happened to Nelson. By his own admission he had expected to spend a minimum of two seasons as an assistant coach before tackling a top spot. But things didn't work out quite that way and he was offered, and eventually accepted, the job as Head Coach of the Bucks. "We tried to regroup the best that we could but the whole year was kind of a disaster. We had the worst record in the league that year," winces Nellie. "So, from that point on, it was really a rebuilding program that we were under. I feel that the rebuilding program has been tremendously effective. If you look at our team, we progressed from the worst team in the league in 1977 to the playoffs and a very successful season in 1978. Last year we had a disappointing season, but there were some reasons for that. As far as the Milwaukee Bucks are concerned, we're right on schedule as far as building a championship caliber team."

That's right where you catch on that Nellie has the same philosophies as Bucks' President and Chairman of the Board, Jim Fitzgerald, when he talks about the five-year plan. "When I first took the job over I wanted to create a stable situation for everybody concerned with the Bucks. I wanted my young players to be good players and I want them to stay here and build around them into a championship. That's still our plan, our goal. It hasn't worked completely yet but it is taking hold," continues Nellie.

"With that, if the players can rely on being here for their careers, then they should get involved with the community and vice versa. Our players have already shown a commitment. That's exhibited by the fact that a number of them have bought homes in the Milwaukee area."

After 16 seasons of involvement in the NBA, Nelson has a lot of experience to draw upon and many people that he can call influential. But one person heads the list. "I have a little from everybody," says Nelson. "But the main source would be Red Auerbach. I was very fortunate to be connected with Red for 11 years. I played under him when he was a coach and while he was a General Manager. As far as learning from Red, he was always receptive to talking basketball with players ... talking ideas and concepts." The respect for Auerbach really shows through.

"Over the years I not only learned a good brand of basketball, I not only learned what it would take to win, but I also learned a lot of detailed concepts from Red. Timing on plays, the importance of team attitude in picking the right kind of players to blend together. I think probably 90 percent of the way I'm trying to be as a coach and director of player personnel really comes from Red."

Nelson's job is multi-faceted and one in which he has control over his own future in that he is also the Director of Player Personnel. When Nelson goes on scouting trips there's a number of things he looks for. "The first thing I look for is if the player is of NBA caliber, if he has the talents to play regularly for a good basketball team. You can usually tell that pretty quick," says Nelson. "Once he passes that inspection, I look for more specifics. His general knowledge of the game and his court sense are very important to me because the people that I draft must play a team concept. So, I place important emphasis in my scouting on general floor knowledge.

"The next thing I look for is attitude. If not of first or second importance, it's certainly third. I can usually tell the attitude of a player by watching him. You don't very often find a solid team player who is a leader on the court and not a good person off the court. They just go hand in hand."

After 14 seasons as a player and two as a coach, Nelson can reflect upon the progress of the NBA. "Player-wise I don't think there are a lot of major differences. The fact that there's more money now for the players than in the early days is a change. It's a more refined sport as far as travel and playing conditions are concerned," notes Nellie. "The overall abilities or individual talents are a little greater today than they were in the old days, but I think that the team basketball was better in the old days. The good teams played as teams, now there's a little bit too much emphasis on the individual talents winning games rather than the team concept. There certainly are exceptions to everything. Any team that wins a championship has got to have a little bit of both. I think an overall view would be that in the old days, when I first broke in, everybody did try to play team basketball, more of a passing type situation. Now, it's more one pass and usually the shot goes up."

Nellie continues to run a basketball camp for youths in New Hampshire during a portion of the off-season. Because he has a son, Donn Jr., who is a junior in high school, the elder Nelson has some strong sentiments about the vast majority of kids who want to make it to the pros. The fact is that the odds of making it in the NBA for a high school basketball player are 18,000 to one. Nelson advises, "I tell every high school player not to be overly concerned with playing professional ball. There are a few exceptions I suppose, like a Ralph Sampson, a Moses Malone, or a Darryl Dawkins, who had such tremendous ability that there was a chance. But the average high school kid should be thinking about his next step which would be to realistically select his college and try to evaluate himself as to whether he could play Division I or Division II college basketball."

Through it all, after 16 campaigns in the NBA as both player and coach, Nelson visibly shows the effects. If the light strikes at an odd angle, the mop of blond hair seems to be turning gently to grey. The eyes look hollow and tired up close, as though too many crazed overtime games and one-point decisions are burning out the circuitry. Three seasons of coaching 25-year-old basketball players can do that to a man. "It's pretty draining on you," admits Nellie. "It's harder in almost every aspect than I'd thought. But yet I really like it here in Milwaukee. That's an honest statement . . . I love it. The people are so friendly and they're interested in sports around here which of course is important to me, not only in basketball but all sports. There's also a legitimate concern and dedication for the local teams here in Milwaukee. I like my job a lot. That's very important for me being happy. I like the whole situation here, the Milwaukee Bucks, Jim Fitzgerald, John Steinmiller, and people like that who have made the transition very, very, easy."

The Nelson family includes wife Sharon and four children: Julie 18, who recently entered Wheaton College in Illinois, Donn 17, Chris 16, and Katie 12. The family resides in Brookfield.

John Killilea

Assistant Coach

Assistant Director of Player Personnel

Although both John Killilea's titles are preceded by "assistant," Don Nelson stresses that the two are really "co-coaches." The duo compliment each other well and Nelson thinks he has found the perfect balance with Killilea as his assistant. "John has a better knowledge of the mechanics of the game than I do," Nelson said. "New things that come into the game have all come from high schools, because college and pro coaches can't afford to experiment too much."

"I think people have overlooked the importance of hiring a coach with a background in fundamentals. I know we haven't."

The basic knowledge of the mechanics of basketball is Killilea's forte. "The basic fundamentals of basketball are the same on any level," said Killilea, who coached high school basketball in Massachusetts. "I'm very proud of my high school background."

Fundamentals are so important, even in the pros, and so many players come out of college, where they were the stars, not knowing how to play defense and play without the ball.

"And when it comes to teaching, a great many pros are so talented that it is hard for them to break their talents down and explain them to untalented people. It's hard for super talented people to go back to the basics."

"Now, being a head coach in the pros is a very psychological job and any respect a coach has as a former player is a great aid. But more and more former pro players, like Billy Cunningham, are hiring college coaches as assistants. And when a college coach like John MacLeod gets a pro job, he hires a former pro like Al Bianchi."

This is actually Killilea's second stint with the Bucks. A 1952 graduate of Boston University, Killilea scouted for Milwaukee before his five-year association with the Celtics as an assistant. "Here, I only scout other teams on off days." Said Killilea. "When Nellie offered me the job, he told me he wanted me at every practice and game—that's great," continued Killilea. "With the Celtics I was always on the road scouting. Now I have a lot more time to stay at home with my family."

During the off-season John runs summer basketball camps for youths in Massachusetts, where he once coached state high school championship teams. He also works with the Bucks draftees during rookie/free agent camps and summer games.

John and his wife Eli are the parents of Kevin 20, Richie 17, Tanja 12, and Lee 11, and live in Brookfield.

Jeff Snedeker
Trainer and Traveling Secretary

Jeff Snedeker brings with him a wealth of practical experience to his first season as trainer and traveling secretary of the Bucks. Jeff's primary concerns are for the well being of the players and attending to their day-to-day needs where minor injuries are concerned. He also handles player conditioning, preventative treatment, taping, and on-the-bench game duties. Combine that with the other facet of his job as traveling secretary, which includes making travel arrangements, and Jeff is kept busy round the clock.

For 14 seasons, from 1963 to 1977, Jeff was the head trainer of the New York Jets of the National Football League. That time span included the heyday of the Jets when they won the Super Bowl with Joe Namath at the helm. He was also the head trainer of the New York Cosmos of the North American Soccer League for two seasons, from 1977 to 1979, which included their NASL Title Team. In that capacity, Jeff treated world-renowned Pele while touring internationally several times with the club.

"Jeff has twenty years experience as a head trainer," said Head Coach Don Nelson. "He's a mature, progressive trainer and a believer in preventative training. He's traveled in all parts of the world with various teams. I'm looking forward to working with him this season."

Possessor of a Master of Science degree in athletic training from Indiana University, Snedeker also acted as trainer for visiting NBA teams at Madison Square Garden in 1965 and as substitute trainer for the New York Knicks in 1966.

During the off-season, Jeff has conducted research in the area of strength testing and flexibility as a research associate at the Institute for Sports Medicine and Athletic Trauma at Lenox Hill Hospital in New York City. He was an adjunct lecturer in physical education at Barnard College in New York while also teaching graduate courses in sports medicine.

Jeff has been a guest lecturer at various national, regional, state and local meetings of a host of organizations, including the American College of Sports Medicine, the National Athletic Trainer's Association, The Sports Medicine Clinic of Seattle, The New York Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation and the New Jersey Academy of Family Physicians.

The Bucks' new trainer is a member of the American College of Sports Medicine, The National Athletic Trainer's Association, the Eastern Athletic Trainer's Association, and the New York State Athletic Trainer's Association.

Jeff and his wife Joyce are the parents of four children; Cheryl 19, Connie 16, and 12 year old twins, Karen and Kathy.

The Snedekers live in Whitefish Bay.

Bert Hammel
Scout

Bert Hammel joined the Milwaukee Bucks organization just prior to the start of fall training camp after serving as Assistant Coach at Merrimack College the past five years. Hammel's primary area of responsibility will be in the area of collegiate scouting.

Hammel, 28, did the bulk of the scouting for Merrimack (in North Andover, Massachusetts) for teams that reached the finals of the NCAA regional tournament twice. In 1977 they had the distinction of being one of the few Division II schools ever to have two players, Dana Skinner (Boston) and Ed Murphy (Atlanta), to be drafted.

"Bert is a hard working, dedicated basketball man," said Coach Don Nelson. "He has done a lot of college scouting for Merrimack and we feel he's qualified to judge talent and also to help us with our pro scouting."

Prior to his stint with Merrimack, Bert worked for the Xerox Corporation while going to graduate school for one year. He played his college ball at Bentley College in Waltham, Massachusetts from 1969 to 1973. He played forward and averaged 18 points and 8 rebounds as the MVP and captain his senior year. Bert was a District II All-America, MVP of the Bentley College Christmas Tournament and recipient of the senior athlete award in 1973.

A native of White Plains, New York, he was a 1969 graduate of Stepinac High School where he was captain and MVP on the basketball team. Bert's brother, Brian, was a 1975 third round draft selection of the Bucks out of Bentley College and was the last player cut from that squad which included present day Bucks Junior Bridgeman, Dave Meyers and Brian Winters.

Jim Irwin
Voice of the Bucks

A three-time winner of the Wisconsin Sportscaster of the Year Award, Jim Irwin was named this past summer as the new play-by-play announcer for the Bucks. Also the voice of the Green Bay Packers and Wisconsin Badgers, Irwin brings a special insight into play-by-play sports reporting. His style is best summed up in his own words. "Radio is a visual medium in that listeners see the game in their minds while the sportscaster is describing it. So I always gear my broadcasts toward that visual concept by trying to be clear and concise. Basketball has so much drama, tension, beauty, and grace to be communicated. Each broadcast is a combination of information and pure entertainment. I want all the listeners to feel they're right in the middle of the action," he said.

Irwin is joined courtside behind the mike by former Bucks All-Star Jon McGlocklin at all home games. Once again WTMJ radio (620 am) will broadcast all Milwaukee Bucks home and away games. The NBC radio affiliate feeds Irwin's play-by-play and McGlocklin's analysis to a statewide network of over twenty stations throughout Wisconsin and upper Michigan.

Last season, Irwin broadcast 25 Bucks games when Eddie Doucette was called away from the mike for surgery. Doucette will continue to handle the 17 Bucks televised games on WTV-Channel 18. Irwin also has called University of Wisconsin basketball play-by-play for four seasons, covered the Greater Milwaukee Open Golf Tourney for 11 years, and broadcast reports from this year's Indianapolis 500. In addition to his Bucks play-by-play responsibilities, Irwin will continue his morning sports broadcast, "Viewpoint;" Heard at 7:45 a.m. on WTMJ radio, it is a provocative commentary on assorted sports topics.

A graduate of the University of Missouri, Jim served with the Army in Korea. His wife Gloria (they were childhood sweethearts) writes documentaries for Channel 10 in Milwaukee. The couple have two children: 15-year-old Anne, a sophomore at Whitefish Bay High School, and 13-year-old Jay, in the seventh grade at Henry Clay Elementary School.

Jon McGlocklin
Administrative Assistant

Only two players remain with the Milwaukee Bucks organization since the club's inception in 1968. Jon McGlocklin is one of those two.

Nowadays, not too far from where he used to toss in his rainbow jumpshots, McGlocklin is an administrative assistant with the club. His duties encompass community relations, promotions, and broadcasting. Jon provides color commentary at all home Bucks games which are heard at WTMJ (620 am) radio and on a statewide network, along with analysis on seventeen televised road games on WTV-Channel 18. McGlocklin has also been a color analyst for the CBS television network on their Game of the Week telecasts.

Jon comes from behind the mike as a speaker much in demand at clinics, youth gatherings, church affairs, and father-son nights. He is president of the Midwest Athletes Against Childhood Cancer (MAACC) Fund while serving on the board of Athletes for Youth.

Known on the court for his patented jumpshot, all-out hustle, and competitive spirit, McGlocklin holds the club's career record for games played (595), was the first Buck ever to don an All-Star uniform (1969), and was a vital cog on the NBA championship squad of 1971.

Originally drafted in 1965 by Cincinnati after an outstanding collegiate career at Indiana, Jon spent two seasons with the Royals before a one year stint in San Diego. The final eight years of his eleven year NBA career were spent here in Milwaukee.

Statistically, Jon carried an eight year scoring average of 12.5 points with the Bucks. His remarkable .505 field goal percentage still ranks among the top twenty all-time field goal shooters in NBA history.

A native of Franklin, Indiana, Jon and his wife Pam now make their home in suburban Greendale with their children, Shannon 10 and Meghan 4½. He owns and operates Jon McGlocklin's Carpet Court, a floor covering store located in Cudahy.

Eddie Doucette
TV Announcer

Eddie Doucette, the voice of the Bucks since the club's inception in 1968 continues to handle the play-by-play of seventeen WVTM-Channel 18 road game telecasts in the 1979-80 season. He is replaced behind the WTMJ radio microphone by Jim Irwin for 82 home and away games.

Doucette signed an agreement over the summer with KFMB Radio in San Diego which requires his presence in that area to do San Diego State football and basketball broadcasts along with Padres baseball on radio during televised games and Thursday night cable games of Major League Baseball.

Doucette's Milwaukee Bucks' road telecasts maintain a priority over all commitments in San Diego. He also handles any WVTM telecasts of playoff games.

Regarded by his peers as technically one of the best play-by-play men in the country, Fast Eddie has coined such phrases as sky hook, yo-yo dribble, and rainbow jumper, to name just a few.

He will be joined courtside behind the mike by former Bucks All-Star Jon McGlocklin. The telecasts of fifteen road games that originate through WVTM-TV, Channel 18 in Milwaukee, are fed to a network of cable stations covering the primary television markets in Wisconsin.

Eddie, his wife Karen, and their two sons, seven-year-old Brett and four-year-old Cory reside in Poway, California.

Fr. Gene Jakubek, S.J.
Chaplain

Fr. Gene Jakubek, S.J., is presently in his fourth season as the Milwaukee Bucks team chaplain. Known throughout the Midwest as the TV priest, Fr. Gene has had his own weekly TV series since 1968. The show, "The Answer is Love" is seen locally on WITI-Channel 6.

"It's primarily a consulting job more than anything," Father Gene said. "It's one of those situations where a man who does a lot of consulting like I do, can be a lot of help to a young team like this. I just try and help the fellas keep their heads on straight. It's a job I appreciate," he continued. "I enjoy relating to the player as a . . . well, almost like a big brother. I've dealt with a lot of athletes in my life and these men are outstanding guys, good kids."

Father Gene has been the focus of features in the New York Times and People Magazine. His work has been honored often. He has received the National Ten Commandments Award of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, been named Man of the Year by the Polish National Alliance, and has received dozens of other awards from both civic and religious organizations.

Author of four books, several pamphlets, and scores of magazine and newspaper articles, Father Gene is the galloping Jesuit, much in demand as a speaker in both one-to-one and group situations.

Chuck Reupert
Controller

Chuck Reupert likes to see things in black and white. In his business, red is the color everyone avoids. As controller, Chuck handles the day-to-day financial affairs for the Bucks and is responsible for the many business details that enter into the operation of a pro sports franchise. Chuck joined the Bucks staff in February of 1971 after being plant accountant for a local manufacturing firm for ten years.

A graduate of Boys Tech and the University of Wisconsin, he served as an infantry squad leader in Korea. An experienced sports car builder and driver, Chuck now races under the Milwaukee Bucks banner in a car specially finished with the Bucks logo.

Ron Blomberg
Administrative Assistant

Ron Blomberg is the Director of the Milwaukee Bucks Summer Basketball Camp program, a unique basketball education division of Milwaukee Professional Sports and Services that operates week-long, day and boarding camps for young players ages 8 to 18.

Nicknamed "The Professor" several years ago while performing the color commentary for the Bucks radio broadcasts, Ron coached on the high school level in Wisconsin for 22 years and returned to the coaching ranks last season as the head coach at Brookfield Central High School for the second time in his career.

As a clinic speaker and general lecturer, Ron is much in demand to service clubs in and around the Milwaukee area.

Ron pioneered the summer basketball camp program in Wisconsin. His thorough understanding of the game, coupled with his teaching talents, are naturals for the camp program, which drew nearly 4,000 youngsters to Bucks' camps throughout the Midwest last summer.

Ron played varsity basketball at the University of Wisconsin for three seasons and coached championship teams at Peshtigo, Wayland Academy, and Brookfield Central.

He and his wife LaVerne are the parents of two sons and two daughters and live in suburban Brookfield.

Bill King II
Director of Publicity

Entering his third season of life in the NBA, Bill, at 24, is one of the youngest publicists in pro sports. Bill is responsible for the day-to-day public relations functions of the club with special attention to media information and fan involvement. King's duties also include the writing and editing of news releases, media guides, the HOOP game program, and other official publications of the club. He is involved in the production of the halftime segments seen on the Bucks televised games on WVTW-Channel 18.

King launched his career towards NBA basketball as a native of Neptune City, New Jersey, where he was involved in a host of extracurricular activities at Neptune High School. From there he went on to become the youngest full-time Sports Information Director in the nation at the University of Charleston in West Virginia. During the summer months through high school and college, King honed his statistical skills as publicist and statistician for a summer basketball league on the Jersey Shore where he was tagged with the title "Superstat" by a local sportscaster. He came to the Bucks after serving a brief stint in the promotions department of Tulane University in New Orleans.

During the off-season, King enjoys water and jet skiing as well as body surfing during trips to the east coast.

Bea Westfahl
Ticket Manager

As Bucks ticket and office manager, Bea Westfahl faces myriad duties. Mrs. Westfahl directs the entire ticket operation, including processing season tickets, over the counter sales, mail, phone, and group orders, as well as supervising sales through the computerized Ticketron outlets. It is Bea who personally helps each and every one of the nearly 6,000 season ticket holders select their individual seats. It is no small task to account for the nearly one half million tickets that must be processed each season. Bea directs a staff of five secretaries and receptionists in running a smooth operation.

Bea formerly worked for the State of Wisconsin at the State Fair Park before joining the organization in 1969. Originally from West Allis, she and her husband, Don, a Milwaukee fireman, are the parents of three sons; Jeff 25, Steve 23, and Rick 21. The entire family enjoys the off-season boating and water skiing, while participating in all the recreational activities that surround summer cottage life in Wisconsin.

'78-79 Regular Season: improved greatly over his rookie campaign—especially in the late season... Benson started 14 of the first 31 games and Milwaukee was 11-20 at that point... but then Benson started the next 51 games and led the Bucks to a 27-24 (.529%) record in those games... in his last 51 games, Benson averaged 13.8 points and 7.2 rebounds... Benson scored 28 points, a career high, in the last game of the season as the Indiana alumnus finished with 1,006 points—one of four Bucks to score 1,000 points... that is almost double Benson's rookie season output of 532 points... with 584 rebounds, Benson also almost doubled his rookie season output for rebounds (295)... since the All-Star break, Benson was very hot, averaging 14.7 points and 8.2 rebounds, scoring in double figures in 21 of 28 games (including the last 9) and shooting 174 for 322 (.540%) from the field... in the last 21 games, Benson hit 151 of 267 (.566%)... Benson's season .518% shooting average was second best on the Bucks... 10 times Benson scored over 20 points and in those games, the Bucks were 9-1 (.900%), so his contribution is obviously important... 13 times in the last 23 games Benson led the Bucks in rebounding as he led in rebounding 31 times over the season—highest on the Bucks... three times Benson led the Bucks in scoring... after missing 23 games in his rookie campaign with injuries, Benson played in all 82 games this season... he has suited up for 124 consecutive games and played in 123 of those... Benson led the Bucks in assists 3 times, steals 10 times, and blocks 35 times... Benson's 25 dunks at home were second on the Bucks.

High School: tabbed "Mr. Basketball" in the State of Indiana after averaging 27.7 points and 29 rebounds per game his senior year at New Castle-Chrysler High School home of the largest (9,000 capacity) high school gymnasium in the United States.

College: 1976 College Player of the Year at Indiana... started for the Hoosiers as a freshman and subsequently set a record by starting in 102 consecutive games... consensus All-American last two seasons... MVP in the Big Ten 1976... All-Conference selection three years... named to the College Sports Information Director's of America (CoSIDA) First Team All Academic Squad along with Marques Johnson.

Personal: wife's name is Monica... the couple became the proud parents of Andrea over the summer... Kent is very active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes... enjoys fishing and camping... owns a four wheeler and small skiff.

'78-79 Regular Season: after a somewhat slow start, Junior came on strong to compile his most impressive statistics ever... the fourth year bench guard finished the season with 1,269 points and a 15.5 average — tops in the league among all regular sixth men... through most of the season, Bridgeman ranked no better than fourth or fifth among bench scorers as Mitch Kupchak topped the lot, and as late as the All-Star break Bridgeman still was averaging only 12.9 points... but, buoyed by a few starts in place of the injured Brian Winters, Bridgeman averaged 20.4 points in the 28 games after the All-Star break to lift his average to 15.5 and top Kupchak's 14.6 average... in the 28 games after the All-Star break, Bridgeman scored in double figures in every one, over 20 points in 15 games and over 30 in 3 games... Bridgeman ended the season with a streak of 35 consecutive double figure nights... Bridgeman didn't start any games after the break, but still managed to accomplish that 20.4 average in an average of only 27.9 minutes... before the All-Star break, Bridgeman was shooting only .461% from the floor, but in the 28 games that followed he hit 242 of 420 (.576%) shots and lifted his season shooting mark to .506% — a career high... Bridgeman also set career highs for points, scoring average and four other categories... Bridgeman's 48 minute projection of 31.0 points is second only to Marques Johnson's 34.1 projection on the Bucks... for the third consecutive year, Bridgeman played in all 82 games in 1978-79 — the only Bucks player ever to do that... Junior has now played in 268 consecutive regular season games and 280 counting playoffs — a new Bucks record... in four seasons, Bridgeman has missed only one game — on February 28, 1976 — as he has played in 327 possible games in his career... after only four seasons with the Bucks, Bridgeman has scored 4,266 points — sixth best in Milwaukee history... Bridgeman also ranks fourth in games played, ninth in rebounds, sixth in field goals made, sixth in field goals attempted, seventh in free throws made, ninth in free throws attempted and fourth in steals in the Bucks' all time annals... Bridgeman also led the Bucks 12 times in steals and 10 times in blocked shots... Bridgeman had 19 dunks at home — third on the Bucks.

High School: member of the National Honor Society at Washington High... played clarinet and served as president of the band there.

College: consensus All-American at Louisville... MVP in the Missouri Valley Conference his senior year... led the Cardinals to a third place finish in the NCAA's in 1975... Dean's List all four years.

QUINN BUCKNER 21

Position : Guard
Height : 6'3"
Weight : 205
Birthdate : August 20, 1954
Birthplace : Phoenix, Illinois
High School : Thornridge-Dolton, Illinois
College : Indiana University '76
When Drafted : First round by Milwaukee in 1976
How Acquired : 1976 College draft
Pro Experience : Currently in fourth NBA season
Residence : Glendale, Wisconsin

'78-79 Regular Season: struggled for the early part of the season, but, like many other Bucks, came on strong after the All-Star break... finished the season with averages of 5.8 assists and 1.93 steals—both good enough for tenth in the league... on an assist and team play oriented ball club, Buckner is the leader... started all 81 games he played in... Buckner has started every game he has played in since Don Nelson took over as coach and in the last two years has missed only one game... finished with a 7.2 average—sixth best on the Bucks... after the All-Star break, Buckner averaged 9.6 points and 7.0 assists... after scoring in double figures only 7 times before the All-Star break, Buckner scored ten or more in 16 of 28 games after the break... 19 times in the last 28 games Buckner had six or more assists... it's no coincidence that Milwaukee played that much better after the All-Star break... in the 37 games that Buckner had six or more assists, the Bucks were 21-16 (.586%) but in the 45 games he had five or less, the Bucks were only 17-28 (.378%)... Buckner led the Bucks in assists 29 times, steals 31 times and blocked shots five times... the number of times he led in steals and assists were tops on Milwaukee... Buckner has now led Milwaukee in steals and assists for three years in a row... Buckner is the Bucks' all-time leading steal man and he ranks seventh in assists... Buckner's 468 assists are the fifth most for a season in Milwaukee history and the most for a Buck since Oscar Robertson had 551 in 1972-73

High School: All-American in both basketball and football at Thornridge-Dolton High School... was a vital cog on two title squads... never played on a losing team in high school.

College: split athletic endeavors during freshman and sophomore campaigns between football and basketball at Indiana... along with Kent Benson led the Hoosiers to the NCAA Championship title in 1976... named to several All-American teams and All Big Ten squad senior year at Indiana... led all Big Ten guards in field goal percentage as a junior (56%)... National Honor Society... started all four seasons... co-captained Indiana and another championship squad, the United States title team in the Montreal Olympics which finished 6-0... played with Ernie Grunfeld at the Olympiad... captained the U.S. World Games team in 1973, visited China as a member of an All-Star team in 1973... played on US team in six game Russian series in 1974.

'78-79 Regular Season: finished with a 10.3 average—fifth best on the Bucks. ... Grunfeld, as third forward, teamed with Bridgeman to form the nucleus for one of the finest benches in the league... Grunfeld, one of four Bucks to appear in all 82 games, improved greatly over his rookie season... the Tennessee alumnus averaged only 6.9 points in 173 minutes last season, but this season he averaged 10.3 in 21.7 minutes as he became important to the Bucks' attack... excellent at driving to the basket for his size, Grunfeld is adept at drawing the foul... he went to the line 251 times this season—third highest on the Bucks... outside of Norm Van Lier and Sam Smith, no one on the Bucks team came close to getting so many points from the line—22.7% of Grunfeld's points came from free throws... twice Grunfeld led the Bucks in scoring, four times he led in assists, 6 times he led in steals and twice he led in blocked shots. ... the prior season Grunfeld scored only 502 points—last season he scored 843... he set career highs in every other category also... Dave Meyers' injury put him in the third forward position... in a 143-84 romp of Detroit, Grunfeld scored a career high 27 points and added 9 rebounds, 6 assists and three steals.

High School: was the first prep player ever chosen for the U.S. team in the Maccabiah Games in Israel... while at Forest Hills High toured Europe one summer with the U.S. international team.

College: named to six All-American teams his senior year at Tennessee... also earned an Olympic gold medal from the Montreal games as he teamed with Quinn Buckner... averaged 22.3 points and 6.6 rebounds over a four year span for the Vols and is their all time leading scorer with 2,249 points... the Bucks half of the "Ernie and Bernie Show" was first team ALL-SEC four years as well as conference scoring champ his junior year and runner-up his sophomore and senior seasons... split playing time at Tennessee between forward and guard position... played for the U.S. team that won the Pan-Am basketball crown in Mexico City in 1975.

Personal: a naturalized United States citizen from Romania... a bachelor... conducted a basketball camp under his name at Maryville College in Tennessee for one month during the off-season... badly sprained a knee while running on the beach in Long Island during the off-season that caused Bucks' officials much concern at the time but has since not proved to be a set back.

George Johnson

GEORGE JOHNSON 24

Position : Forward
Height : 6'7"
Weight : 205
Birthdate : December 8, 1956
Birthplace : Brooklyn, NY
High School : New Utrecht High School, Brooklyn, NY
College : St. John's University (NY) '78
When Drafted : First round by Milwaukee in 1978
How Acquired : 1978 College draft
Pro Experience: Currently in second NBA season
Residence : Brooklyn, New York

'78-79 Regular Season: sat on the bench during most of the early part of the season but came on strong at the end... started the last 19 games for Milwaukee at forward in place of Kevin Restani... although Johnson's statistics as a starter were not the most impressive, it seems that his presence in the lineup helped the team because with Johnson starting the Bucks held a 12-7 (.632%) record... Johnson's first start was on February 28—just before Milwaukee went on its 10-4 binge in March... as a starter, Johnson averaged 7.2 points, 7.0 rebounds, 1.0 steals, 1.0 blocks and shot .500% from the floor... George struggled through his early starts but adapted as time went on... defensively, Johnson showed tremendous potential for a rookie... Johnson's projected defensive statistics are some of the most impressive in the league—projected over 30 minutes (an arbitrary amount of minutes for a full time forward), Johnson would average 1.94 steals and 1.93 blocks—both would rank among the NBA leaders... Johnson came on strong at the end—leading Milwaukee in rebounding 14 times in total—11 times after the All-Star break... has some of the quickest hands around, but when he began to start, had trouble with fouls—he led the Bucks in disqualifications with five... had high of 20 points and 14 rebounds during the season... 17 times Johnson led the Bucks in blocked shots and 7 times he led in steals.

High School: All-American at New Utrecht High School in Brooklyn... first played organized ball on the Brooklyn-USA squad in Bedford Stuyvesant... became an ALL-PSAL (Public School Athletic League) performer at New Utrecht High where his battles with Fort Hamilton's Bernard King were considered legendary.

College: entertained 300 college scholarship offers and chose St. John's in the heart of New York City because as George puts it, "I was saying, 'I love New York' before the buttons came out..."... four years and 1,763 points later Johnson had won the Haggerty Award as the Metropolitan area's best player... Johnson's college coach, Lou Carnesecca (a former coach of the ABA Nets) praises Johnson as the most intelligent man he had coached other than Rick Barry... named the Most Valuable Player of the Metropolitan ECAC Championships his junior year... statistically, George progressed both scoring and rebounding wise his four years as a Redman... averaged 19.4 points and 12.0 rebounds while connecting on .509% of his field goal attempts his senior season.

Personal: A bachelor... has lectured youths in the Bedford-Stuyvesant area as part of Operation Sports Rescue.

'78-79 Regular Season: not enough can be said for Marques' performance... he led the Bucks in scoring, rebounding, shooting and 9 other offensive categories out of a possible 21... Johnson finished the season third in the NBA in scoring with a 25.6 average — highest among all forwards and centers in the league... early in the season, after opening with six straight thirty point nights, Johnson led the league in scoring and after that he never dipped lower than fourth during the course of the season... Johnson's 1,872 points were the fourth best in the league and the most for any Buck in five years (since Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 2,191 in 1973-74)... Johnson's scoring ranks as the sixth best in Milwaukee history and his shooting average is the fifth best in history... Johnson led the Bucks with 586 rebounds — the lowest total ever to lead the team... Marques led the Bucks in scoring 48 times, rebounding 20 times, blocked shots 31 times, steals 22 times and assists 3 times... 63 times in 77 games, including the last 13 consecutive, Johnson scored twenty points or more as he was one of four players in the league to score in double figures in every game... counting last season, Johnson has scored in double figures in 111 consecutive and 138 of the last 139 games... 24 times Johnson scored 30 or more points... one of the most consistent players around, Marques hit at least 50% of his shots in 64 of 77 games... 24 times Johnson had 10 or more rebounds... 25th in the league in minutes played, Johnson played less than 30 minutes in only 8 games... two seasons ago, Marques became the most prolific rookie for Milwaukee since Kareem Abdul-Jabbar entered the league. Now, Johnson's sophomore season ranks as the most prolific for any second year Bucks player since Abdul-Jabbar... after only two years in the league, Johnson already ranks as the seventh highest scorer and the eighth highest rebounder in Milwaukee's history... a favorite performer for fans everywhere, Johnson was voted by the fans a starter in the All-Star game with the most votes for any Western Conference player... a reason for Marques' popularity has to be linked to his exciting slam dunks (including the alley-oop dunk that Milwaukee perfected for him this season)... Johnson had 96 dunks at home this season in 39 appearances — an average of 2.46 a game — the team averaged only 3.63 a game at home... 48 times Marques outscored the highest scoring forward from the opposing team last season... the scoring duo of Johnson and Brian Winters was the sixth best in the league last season with an average of 45.4 points between them.

High School: earned Los Angeles "City Player of the Year" honors in 1975-76 while leading Crenshaw High to the L.A. City title... won prep All-American honors as well as All-City and All-Western League acclaim for two years.

College: College Player of the Year in 1977... named to four major All-American teams... ranked as UCLA's all time scoring leader among forwards and fifth greatest Bruin rebounder... shot .597% from the field and averaged 21.6 points and 11 rebounds his senior season... had 62 dunks the year they brought it back... captained the Bruins to a 24-5 record and their 11th straight Pacific-8 Conference championship his senior season... Pac-8 Player of the Year 1976-77, All-League in 1975-76... named to the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) Academic All-American First Team along with Kent Benson... majored in communications.

Personal: named to the 1979 NBA All League team as voted by his peers... spent the off-season in L.A... parents were very influential in his development as a person, both are educators.

Background: when the Milwaukee Bucks used their fifth pick in the draft to take Sidney Moncrief, the 6'4" jumping jack from Arkansas, the club completed a major move in putting together one of the most formidable backcourts in the NBA.... touted as a "David Thompson type player", Moncrief earned rave reviews as a standout with the Razorbacks. ... writers tabbed him "Sid the Whiz Kid", "Sidney the Incredible", and one newspaper headline went so far as to call Moncrief "The player of ages rather than of decade." ... Moncrief, the leading rebounder and scorer in Arkansas history, was named by the Associated Press as the Southwest Conference Player of the Year and complimented that honor in being named to innumerable All-American teams... Sidney averaged an even 22 points per game his senior season along with 9.6 rebounds, 2.7 assists, and 1.5 steals while averaged 38.6 minutes... a strong leaper with incredible quickness, Sidney connected on an amazing 60.6% of his field goals in four seasons at Arkansas and 85.5% of his free throws his senior season... Moncrief registered a career high of 39 points versus Southern Mississippi... he represented the United States in several international tournaments and was a standout for the USA team that won the World Invitational Games in 1978... Sidney and his wife Debra have purchased a home in the Milwaukee area.

'78-79 Regular Season: through most of the season it looked as though Winters was going to have his best season statistically, but a late season slump caused Brian's stats to slip... at the All-Star break, Winters was averaging 21.2 points and shooting .496%. ... never before did the All-Star guard average 20.0 or better... an injury a few games before the All-Star break slowed Winters... after the break he shot .487% from the floor and averaged 17.2 points as his average slipped to 19.8 at the season's end... still the season ranks as Winters' second best, scoring wise... for the fourth straight year in a Milwaukee uniform, Winters scored over 1,000 points... for most of the season Winters ranked in the top 20 in the league in scoring... Brian also finished with an .856% free throw shooting mark—tenth best in the league... the combination of Winters-Johnson accounted for 45.4 points—37.8% of Milwaukee's points... Brian scored 20 or more points in 39 games... in those 39 games, the Bucks had a 19-20 (.487%) record and in the 63 games that Johnson scored 20 or more points the Bucks had a 30-33 (.476%) record... but in the 32 games that both scored twenty in the same game, Milwaukee had a 17-15 (.532%) record... after four seasons with Milwaukee, Winters now ranks as the fourth most prolific offensive player in most all-time categories... his 6,080 points ranks as the fourth best in Milwaukee history as he is only the fourth player ever to score more than 6,000 points in a Milwaukee uniform... Brian is one of only four players in the league to average 19.0 points or more and not attempt at least 300 free throws... led the Bucks in scoring 22 times (second only to Johnson), led in assists 20 times, steals 13 times and blocked shots 8 times.

High School: prep All-American at Archbishop Molloy... played on a team with Indiana's Kevin Joyce that won the New York City title his junior year and were runners-up his senior season.

College: All-American and captain his senior year at South Carolina... dropped in a buzzer jumpshot to beat Marquette 60-58 his senior year as a Gamecock.

Personal: NBA All-Rookie team in 1975... NBA All-Star selection last year for the second time... single... sports a variety of beards and moustaches... fourth child in a family of five that includes two brothers and two sisters... both parents and sisters are educators in New York City, one brother is a geologist, and the other a basketball coach... has returned to his college alma mater the past two summers to work towards a masters degree in the area of student personnel and services.

BUCKS SET ATTENDANCE AND SELLOUT RECORDS

The Milwaukee Bucks set a new record for total regular season attendance during the 1978-79 season at 443,926 and total number of regular season sellouts at 32. The old marks stood at 435,057 for total attendance while the previous sellout record was 27 set in 1977-78. The 1978-79 attendance marks translate into 99% attendance topping the previous mark of 97% set one season earlier when the Bucks were headed for the playoffs. Milwaukee closed out the regular season with 10 consecutive sellouts.

For the entire regular season of 41 games, the Bucks 1978-79 regular season attendance averages out to 10,827 fans, higher than both last season's mark of 10,611 and higher also than during the championship year of 1970-71.

Through the first eleven years of the franchise, the Bucks have drawn a regular season total of 4,175,588 fans over 422 games for an average of 9,895 or 90.7% capacity.
